Early breakfast at the hotel.

Pick up from the hotel lobby and proceed on a sightseeing tour of Phnom Penh with a local English speaking guide.

Visit the Silver Pagoda, and then rub shoulders with the royals in the Royal Palace, where King Norodom Sihamoi still lives today. And of course, there's time for shopping for exotic souvenirs in one of the city's fabulous markets. We'll either visit the art-deco Central Market or the sprawling Russian Market to barter for locally made silk, crafts, jewellery and lots more. Let us know if you have a preference!

The city still bears the scars left by the Khmer Rouge. In particular the Formerly the high school, it became the main interrogation and torture facility. Largely unchanged, it bears witness to the thousands of victims that passed through the doors - only seven of whom survived. Just outside the city, in a peaceful rural setting, we find the Killing Fields. Thousands of people were killed here between the years of 1975 and 1978 and buried in mass graves. These are distressing places to visit, but it's necessary to get a clearer idea of how Cambodians have suffered and how they have survived.

Today's Highlights: Royal Palace, Silver Pagoda, Central Market or the Russian Market, Toul Sleng and Killing Fields.

We'll explore the remains of stupas, tombs and memorials and enjoy the views from the hilltops. We'll also pop into a silversmiths' village on the way to Battambang. Today's Highlights: Oudong, Vihear Preah Ath Roes, Prasat Kuhak Nokor, silversmithing village. (290 kms)

Visit Phnom Sampeau, a sacred mountain dotted with interesting pagodas and stupas. There is also a moving memorial to Khmer Rouge victims who were thrown into one of the many caves that pepper this holy mountain.

DAY 04: ST. BATTAMBANG

Early breakfast at the hotel.

Pick up from the hotel lobby and proceed to walk through the Hidden Heritage of Battambang. "What better way to explore Battambang than by foot. Together with an expert guide with a background in archaeology and history we'll take a stroll around the town uncovering hidden history and fascinating legends. Our first stop is at Wat Sangker, an old pagoda once used as a weapons depot for the Khmer Rouge. We'll continue to the old colonial bridge and the huge abandoned swimming pool that was once a glorious sports complex. We'll stroll past the residence of the Thai Lord Governor; the 'Naga for Peace' statue created from parts of a rifle; the remains of an old boxing ring; and the beautiful White Elephant Pagoda. Last and by no means least, we'll actually get to enter inside the Golden Temple cinema, as this is the only tour allowed access to this historic movie theatre. We'll end with a cold drink at an exquisite French colonial building that takes us back to the grand old days of Battambang."

Enjoy riding Cambodia Bamboo Train

Bamboo train called "norry" by the locals, it is a unique and creative form of transport. It consists of a small motorcycle engine-powered bamboo platform that rides on the railway tracks picking up and dropping off passengers, cargo, animals and motorcycles along the way. Virtually all visitors to Battambang have a go on the bamboo train - it is an unforgettable experience and best done in the early evening when the sun isn't so high. Catch it while you can as plans are afoot to upgrade the line and introduce a more conventional train service!

Visit Khmer Rice Noodles Making (Num Banh Chok) (30 minutes)

Num Banh Chok is the name of the noodles that are laboriously made by hand in heavy stone mills from fermented rice, but it's also what the dishes made with these appetizing noodles are called.

Visit Rice Paper Making

The drive out through some beautiful countryside, you will notice locals making rice paper which is used for spring rolls.

Visit Prahok Making (Fish Paste)

Making the fish paste is a slow, labour intensive process. Many different varieties of fresh fish arrive and are cleaned, chopped and sun-dried or otherwise treated before being smoked or soaked. Large wooden, stone or steel vats are filled with bits of fish mixed with herbs spices, and heaven-only-knows what else, and sit quietly fermenting in the shaded alleys of the factory/market. These pungent smelling stews are occasionally stirred with large wooden paddles, then pounded with a wooden plunger before being forked into bags for weighing and marketing.
